

HDCWC - First North American Publication Rights Contract

First North American Rights means that the author licenses a one-time right to publish the work first in the North American market. The author retains all other rights to his work, including the right, among others: 1) to re-license its use as a reprint; 2) to publish it in foreign markets; 3) to license a movie or product spin-off. Having read the definition of First North American rights, the author agrees to the following terms:

1. The author grants permission to include his/her stories, essays, poems or other works – hereinafter referred to as the Work – in the 2010 anthology entitled “Howl At The Moon” to be published by the High Desert Branch of the California Writers Club, hereinafter referred to as the Publisher.
2. The use of the Work by the publisher entails the assignment of First North American Rights for publication in the English language in North America. ALL rights revert to the author after publication.
3. The author grants to the Publisher the right to archive the Work in an online version of the anthology.
4. The author agrees to name The High Desert Branch of the California Writers Club as first publisher, if and when the work is republished in printed or digital form.
5. For the rights granted to the Publisher in 1 (a,b) the Author will be able to purchase copies of the anthology at the wholesale price to be determined by the High Desert Branch of the California Writers Club.
6. The author represents and warrants: 1) that he/she is the sole author of the Work; 2) that the Work is original; 3) that no one has reserved the rights granted in this agreement. The author also represents, to the best of his/her knowledge, that the Work does not contain any libelous material.
7. The author agrees not to publish or permit others to publish this Work in any form prior to its publication and appearance in the above named anthology and no printed form for 90 days following publication.
